

HARTMANN & FORBES®

FEATURED IN

Publication: Overland Journal
Date: Fall 2020
Article: The Ryovan Project | p73-80
Product Shown:

WL348
Hillcountry - Chapparral

Clockwise from left: To mount snowboards onto the wall, the Estradas needed something that holds tension in order to eliminate rattling. For them, Velcro cinch or rubber tie-downs work best. Saul chose lightweight and ergonomic Port Circuit padding for the van's interior floor, ceiling, furniture, and wall slats, which are backed with a bat-silk-like handwoven wall covering. The back seat room's seating area and table can be converted into a bed.

The Ryovan Project

This Japanese teahouse-inspired Sprinter conversion gets to the heart of a good build.

By Ashley Giordano
Photography by Saul Estrada

OVERLAND JOURNAL | GEAR 2021

73

Order no-charge memos online at hartmannforbes.com or contact your local representative showroom.